

Different outcomes choose different memories

Changing the validation target changes the selected mixture and the best fixed memory.

Validation target selects the memory mixture

No single memory preserves every outcome

